"Between all the blueish tears of an unbearable hell spreading through his body, stands the memory of a suffering washed away by time. A fluid motion embodies the canvas turning tears into waves as pain vanish for a part of eternity."

"Amidst a burst of emotions soaking her peaceful mind, meaningful feelings were escaping her head as pouring onto the canvas only bounded by the beauty of her imagination. The old scars she was carrying as burdens had turned into strengths underlining the beauty of beings able to materialize their thoughts."
