What a gigantic journey
at the end we all at the same table
pulsing, waving and scaling laughter.
Louder tension rise in the field as the electric air comfort smelly isopropanol.

Yes bear w/o potential, but they are .99 population. I ensure they might be drinking coke

Cut the crap there is less than this volume in the beer, the bar, the city, the wall, the castle your trash

Thursting the tone, celestial mechanics help him remember the bar was computing every single drops of alcool crossing seawalls.

The bar was connected through a line with all other bar across Europa
Which is a satellite.

Not to be built as his fears spread across time.

That night a tiny hole changed the submarine pressure and droplets reach sodium hydrures up on til the bar east Berlin.

Waking up calls, night ends.
Reaching the lab they noticed one of a million experiment outgrow them and the North Atlantic went kaboom cutting in the same way the whole funding.

The craziest ones said it's the price of war without pleasure

Happy to be back
